

Hooshang Rahmani	Non-Executive Director – LLT
-------------------------	-------------------------------------

Hooshang has twenty-six years of experience in the education and skills sector, working at a senior level in a College of Further Education and Skills Funding Agency with responsibility for a large budget working across the North West and West Midlands, focusing on the development and delivery of Post 16 Learning. He managed several large-scale projects including opening, closing and merging post 16 learning colleges.

He also brings a wealth of governance experience from within both Primary and Secondary settings.

Throughout his career he has focused on achieving the best outcome for all learners and widening access in some of the most deprived parts of the country. He is passionate about learning and believes education and skills development are fundamental to our future prosperity.

Hooshang is committed to supporting the Trust, ensuring that we deliver the strategic objectives and that we provide an inclusive learning community, responding to the ever changing world of work, education and skills.
